treal - Did He Say it?

(Special from United Press.)

New York, July 12.—While James J. Jeffries is an a train speeding from Montreal, Canada, fight fans all over the country are still wondering: "Did he say it and if so, why?" For, from Montreal has come the statement that Jeffries has said he would not re-enter the prize ring and that he would not fight Jack Johnson now or at any other time.
"I won't fight Johnson for I have other time.

"I won't fight Johnson, for I have decided to quit the fighting game," Jeffries is quoted as saying. "I cannot get into any class and I don't want to fight beyond the color line anyway. I would like to see the championship go to a white man but I can't go to retrive it myself. There are plenty of men who can trim that man Johnson.

retrive it myself. There are plenty of men who can trim that man Johnson. But the fans will please count me out." Jeffries has been giving boxing exhibitions with Sam Berger. He left Montreal early this morning. Fight fans in New York believe that with the exception of Jeffries, there is no man in the ring who can whip Johnson and that unless some unknown springs up the championship will probably remain with the negro for a long time.

WINCHESTER TO BUILD HIGH SCHOOL

Winsted, July 12.—At the request of the pastor, Rev. Father Andrew Slattery, the men of St. Joseph's church held a meeting yesterday afternoon and a movement was begun to compel Winchester to provide a High school. The town is at present using the Gilbert school, a private institution founded by William L. Gilbert, and in accordance with terms of his will children from St. Anthony's parochial school are not allowed to attend. A committee was appointed to arrange for a special town meeting. When the Gilbert school was established the town abolished its High school, the objectionable provision in Mr. Gilbert's will being bridged over by an agreement with the trustees whereby the Catholics established a seminary in connection with their school seminary in connection with their school. A year ago objection was made to this arrangement as the seminary was taught by a nun. Since then Catholic children have been atthen Catholic children have been attending the Torrington High school, the town bearing the expense. The trustees of the Gilbert school have made every effort to have the matter rectified even appealing to the Legislature for permission to ignore the will, but were voted down.

AGAINST KIELY

Judge Scott in the Common Pleas court to-day handed down a decision for the defendant to recover costs in the case of Thomas Broderick vs. Michael Kiely. The case is one where Kiely was having a house built in Park avenue and Broderick was digging the celler and building the collection. Park avenue and Broderick was digging the cellar and building the cellar wells. The walls were to be ten feet high and the specification provided that the contractor must reach hard bottom for the foundations. Broderick had to go down 13 feet. Kiely refused to pay for more than was in the contract. Broderick brought suit clasming that Kiely had agreed to pay him for the additional wall and excavating. He asked for $500 damages.

In the meantime 11 members of the reserve under Boatswain's Mate Edward J. Bady had left Black Rock for Roton Point. Tieing up the boat at its destination some of the crew had gone further ashore, but Mitchell and several others remained on the wharf.

At this time the Isabel tied up and the assault on the deckhand was begun. Seeing several men assaulting one Mitchell went to the rescue, assisted by others of his party. He was roughly handled. In the affray four of the thugs were pushed into the water.

The fighters were having their own way until Deputy Sheriff Ireland and three policemen arrived and took a hand. They too were getting a severe beating when special policemen attached to the picnic grounds at Roton Grove came to their essistance.

The fight had lasted an hour when the police got control of the situation. Then it was found that Costelli who had started the fight was so badly hurt that he might die. He was sent to a hospital.

The police picked four men out of the water. They had been knocked overboard during the fight. Two of these men, Italians, were sent to the hospital along with the deckhand. Besides the water they had swallowed they had received bad cuts on the head.

Several hours after the fight had ceived bad cuts on the head.

Several hours after the fight had been stopped and the excursionists had quieted down they were allowed to land, but a close watch was kept for further trouble. They left the pier for New York at 5:15 with the crew of the steamboat armed with belaying pins. They arrived back at 138th street in New York at 10 o'clock. Capt. Patten and twenty men of the Alexander avenue station were on hand to meet them.

The captain refused to allow any one to land until he had investigated the reports of the fight, which had preceded the excursion back home. On the steamboat Isabel everybody denied knowledge of the fight, but Capt. Le-Roy of the base pointed out three men who he said he had been told started the trouble. The men pointed out were arrested, charged with being "suspected of attempting to commit a felonious assault," They said they were Thomas Callahan of 242 Eighth avenue, William Snyder, of 522 West 125th street, and Peter Hoey of 1671 Nelson avenue, The Bronx.

Bugler Mitchell was brought back to this city. This morning he was little the worse for his encounter.
